MIDLAND MAN RECEIVES $50 FROM RESCUED

STORY OF FIRE AND RESCUE COMES OUT WHEN
REWARD RECEIVED

WRECK RAISED

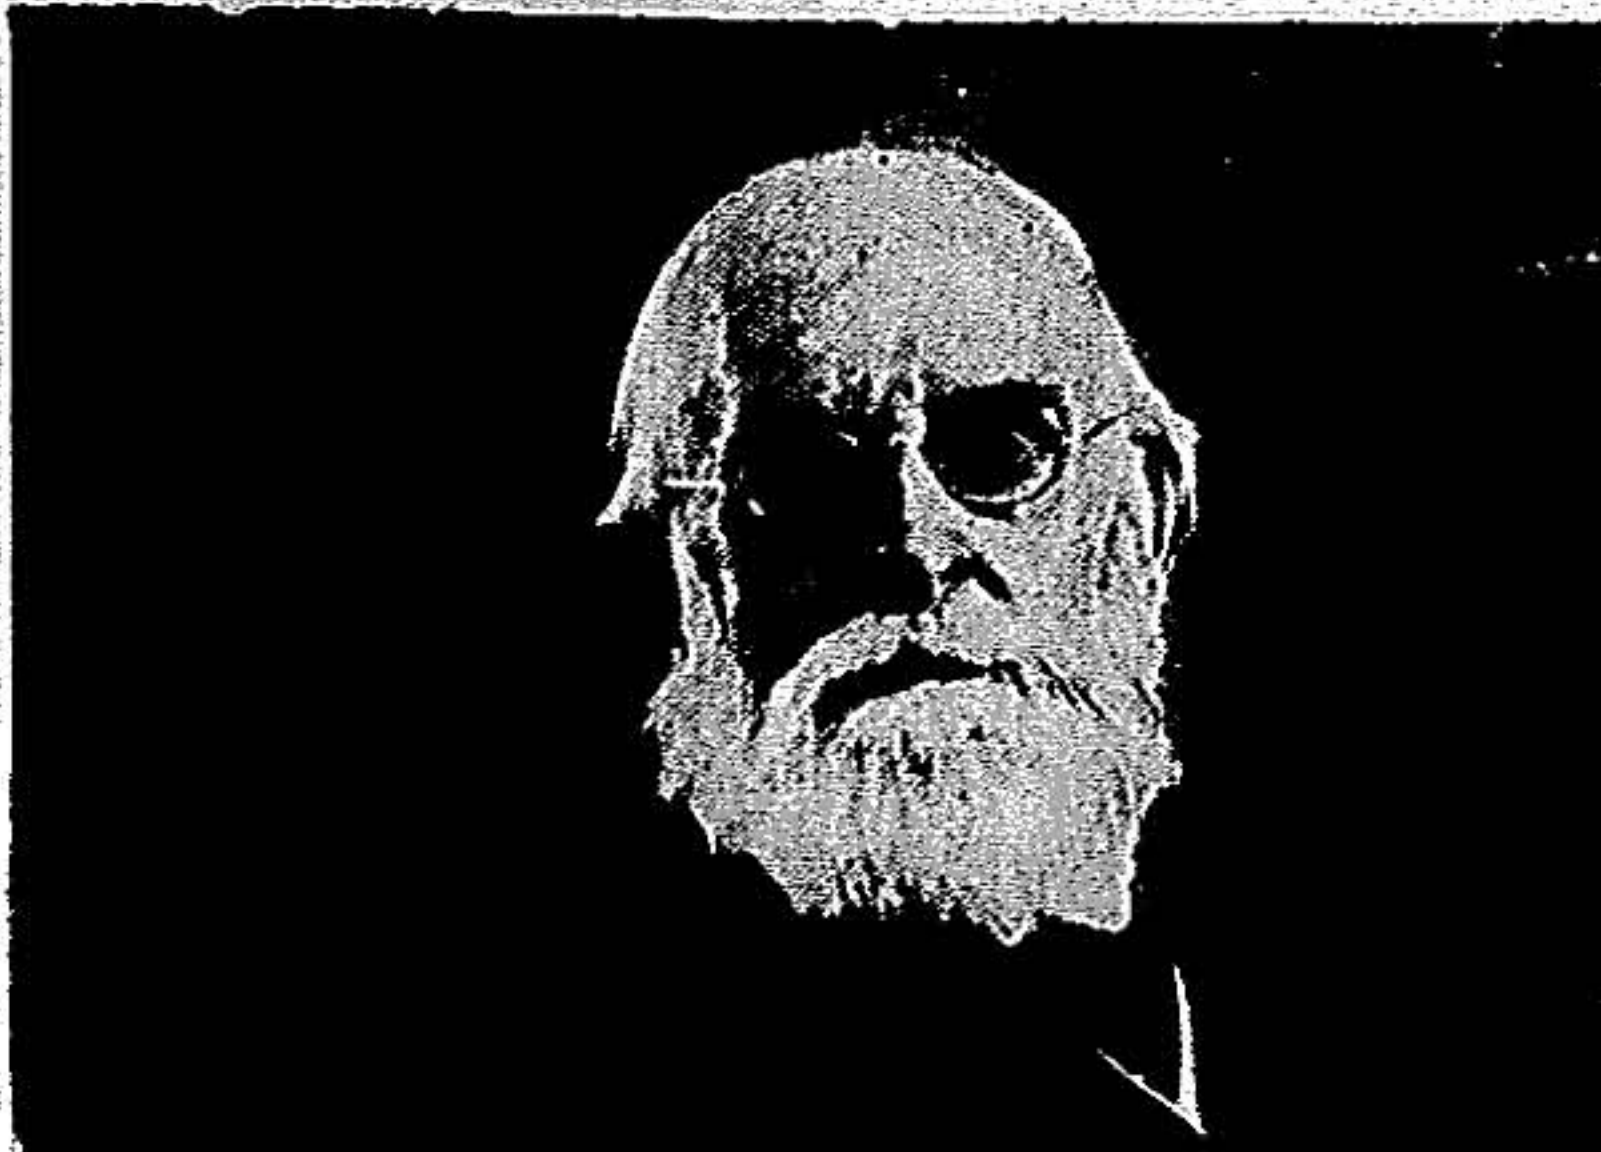

(By Midland Free Press)
Midland, July 15.—Three people were snatched from the hand of death on a flame-swept cabin cruiser in Jaggerwhan Harbor, Giant's Tomb Island, a week ago last Saturday, but the story came to light only last weekend when John Weeks, of Sunnyside, Midland, received a cheque for $50 from the grateful trio whom he saved.
N. L. Mathews, K.C., of Newmarket, with his law partner, Miss Beatrice E. Lyons and her mother, had been bass fishing from the deck of their 25-foot cabin cruiser, which was anchored in the inlet a little more than 100 yards off-shore from where Weeks, at his fishing camp, was mending his nets.
The cruiser was almost a total loss. Fishermen raised it out of 14 feet of water the following day. Only the engine, the lower part of the hull, and some twisted metal fittings remained.

PLAN TO ENROL ALL NURSES IN COMMUNITY

The co-operation of York county hospital as an enrolment centre has been requested for the enrolment of all graduate and practical nurses in the community who may be able to give service in any emergency, by Dr. B. T. McGhie, deputy minister of health and hospitals for Ontario.
The purpose of this scheme, according to Dr. McGhie, is primarily to discover the number and qualifications of those who might be willing and able to render emergency service in the area in which they are resident, whether voluntary or otherwise.

MULOCK STORY IN NORTH YORK IS UNIQUE

The Mulock story in the riding of North York is without equal in the history of Canadian politics. Of the few constituencies that have been represented in parliament by the postmaster-general probably no other has been represented by two postmasters-general, and certainly no other has been represented by two postmasters-general of the same family, one the grandson of the other.
Sir William Mulock, in the bottom picture, as the pioneer of empire penny postage and the Atlantic cable, is the most distinguished postmaster-general Canada has ever had. Back in 1934, when pictures (1), (2) and (3) were taken, his grandson, William Pate Mulock won the riding. He won again in 1935 and 1940, and now he has been called into the government as postmaster-general.
Picture (1) shows one of W. P. Mulock's sons, a great-grandson of Sir William, at the time of his father's early political success. Picture (2) shows the now postmaster-general with one of his constituents, and (3) shows Mrs. W. P. Mulock.

REV. F. M. BRUNTON TAKES ST. PAUL'S SERVICE

There will be no monthly meeting of St. Paul's W. A. this month, but the weekly meeting of the Red Cross sewing circle in connection with the auxiliary is held every Tuesday.
Last week it was held at the home of Mrs. T. Mills, Victoria Ave., and this week at the home of Mrs. R. Large, Timothy St.
St. Paul's quartet sang several numbers at the Red Cross festival held at Pioneer's Park, Sharon, last week. In the absence of the rector, Rev. A. J. Patstone, who is holidaying with his family at Peterboro, Rev. F. M. Brunton of Bradenton, Florida, took the morning services, and Arthur D. Evans, lay reader, took the evening service.
The Sunday-school, as in the previous summers, form the junior congregation, and attend morning services with their parents, retiring to the parish hall before the sermon for their marks and papers.
They held their annual picnic a week ago Saturday. It was held this year at the summer home of Sir Wm. Mulock and was greatly enjoyed.

WON TWO N. H. S. CHAMPIONSHIPS

Winner of the junior athletic championship at Newmarket high school in 1926 and the senior championship in 1927, William Edward Ostley, Bogartown, died suddenly on Monday in his 30th year.
Son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ostley, he was born on the farm in Whitechurch township. He was actively interested in sports as a youth. He worked on the farm and the last couple of years worked for Yorkdale Co-operative, Aurora, and later for Asa Cook, Aurora, who took over the Yorkdale's produce business.
He leaves, besides his parents, two sisters, Hazel (Mrs. Thomas Boland, Toronto) and Mazo, at home.
Flight-Lieutenant Rev. G. O. Lighthorn conducted the service on Wednesday. A cousin, Rev. Eldridge Currey, of Thornhill United church, spoke a few words. Pallbearers were three cousins, John Rutledge, Newmarket, Rudolph Clarkson, Toronto, Charles Haines, Sharon, and three close friends, Wm. Playter, Newmarket, Walter Playter, Newmarket, and Frank Williams, Newmarket.
Interment was in Newmarket cemetery.

Mr. Watson was well-known in Newmarket, having farmed in the vicinity and been in the milk business here for a number of years. He was born in York township.

EGG PER FARM MONTHLY SAID ENOUGH MONEY

DEMOCRACY TOO OFTEN
WILL OF MINORITY,
FARMERS TOLD

MILBURN SPEAKS

"This Federation of Agriculture is you, and the thought that you put into it, and the life you put into it," declared V. S. Milburn, secretary of Ontario Cream Patrons Association, at a meeting to organize a county branch of the Federation of Agriculture in the R.S.A. bugle band hall on Monday afternoon.
Mere membership and affiliation, or study groups, will not do the job, he stated, unless individuals study the reasons why farm prices are low, "unless your agricultural societies learn to serve for the purpose for which they were originally set up, and cease to be mere shows, unless your breeding societies cease to be mere breeding societies."
"Studying together and building up a feeling of good fellowship in our county unit is one of the things we can do," he said. "We have to take the knowledge from our agricultural colleges and to try to apply it. With our larger organized groups we can bring in qualified speakers whom we could not bring otherwise."
"We have to supply the brains and we have to supply the money."

"One man in the west said that if we contributed one egg per farm per month we'd have a pretty good start."
"I see no reason why I should sell my butter on the basis of the last pound of dirty butter sold on the British market."
"We keep on making butter when we are told it isn't wanted. We are making butter when we are asked for cheese as our war contribution, because we don't know how to change our program."
"To make this democracy work we have to learn to regiment ourselves to the will of the majority. Economically we said we had the right to do what we liked with our butter, or our milk or our livestock. Too often democracy has been doing the will of the minority doing what they liked."

STRAND SELLS $235 IN WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

A large crowd helped Canada's war effort by buying $235 worth of war savings stamps at the Strand theatre on Monday evening. As well as the feature of the evening, "Till We Meet Again," the large audience was favored with selections by local musicians.
Donnie Cribar and Jack Arlitt entertained the gathering with cornet solos, James Bradford, Jr., a member of the R. S. A. bugle band, gave a drum solo, and he and his father, James Bradford, Sr., gave a much enjoyed drum duet.
Harold Gadsby, son of Jack Gadsby, great war navy veteran, rendered a greatly appreciated vocal solo. Mr. Gadsby was heard over CFRB by Newmarket listeners recently.

MAKE OVER $90 AT RED CROSS TEA

Over $90 was made at a Red Cross tea held in the spacious home of Mrs. W. L. Bosworth last Thursday afternoon. It had been planned to hold the tea in Mrs. Bosworth's beautiful garden, but a steady downpour of rain made this impossible. In spite of the very bad weather a splendid crowd attended.
Receiving with Mrs. Bosworth was Mrs. W. R. Stephens, president of the local branch of the Red Cross. Mrs. George Case and Mrs. C. S. Gilbert poured tea at the attractively arranged tea table. Members of the entertainment committee, assisted with serving and looking after the guests, provided fine musical entertainment and gave their services free. A lovely quilt, for which tickets were sold, was won by W. M. Cockburn.
"We would like to thank all those who turned out in the rain to make this event such a success," Mrs. Allan Cody, of the entertainment committee, told The Era.

DOMINION PRESIDENT H. H. HANNAM, FORMER

FARM ORGANIZATION MEETING

WANT NATIONAL FARM POLICY

"It is a very encouraging thing to me to have a meeting of this size," said H. H. Hannam, president of the Dominion Federation of Agriculture, the chief speaker, at a county branch organization meeting in the R.S.A. bugle band hall on Saturday.
"We haven't as farm people made the effort necessary to maintain one organization for farmers in Canada," he said. "There is a place for every farmer in Canada in this organization. We want not only his moral support but also his financial support."
"There are 728,000 farmers in Canada, and we want them all in this organization."
"It is prophesied that the after-war days will be the most serious farmers have yet faced."
"In 1926 Canada's farmers had a total income of $728,000,000. By 1932 it had dropped to $144,000,000."

St. John's Party Shadows Last Year's, Big Success

TORONTO MAN WINS HOPE CHEST, NEWMARKET MAN WINS CAKE

"God was very kind to us and answered the prayers of our people for a good day for our garden party," was the first comment of Rev. Dr. Muckle, the pastor of St. John's church, on St. John's garden party last evening. "We are thankful to God and also grateful for the good-will of the large number of people who patronized our garden party last evening. Although it was evident that the people did not have as much money to spend as in previous years everything was successful due to the fact that the overhead expenses are less this year. Nearly all the supplies for the supper and many articles at the booths were donations."
The most noticeable feature of this year's garden party was the abundance of lovely food supplies for the tables. The ladies in charge of the dinners are to be complimented on their beautifully decorated tables. The prize given for the most attractive table went to the Aurora committee, namely Miss Agnes McCabe, Mrs. G. Paxton and Mrs. Honessens.
The hope chest at the lady's fancy booth was another big feature. Miss Grace Doyle, Mrs. Cliff Insley and their assistants worked hard to go over the top and they did. A richly decorated 20-pound fruit cake, made by Jeff's Bakery, was also a new and very popular attraction and will add considerably to the financial success of the garden party. Mrs. McGrady, who donated the cake, and her young assistant, Miss Margaret Goheen, deserve a vote of thanks for disposing of practically all of the tickets on this cake.

PROCEEDS OF DANCE, POP SALE GIVEN RED CROSS

The Red Cross Society would like to express its appreciation and most grateful thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Middlebrook, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gibson and Mr. Scott for their kindness in handing over $17.50, the proceeds of a dance which was held at the Walnut Rendezvous.
Byron Binns, Margaret Smith, Melfort McCaffrey and Billy Brethour turned into the association $2.25, proceeds from a sale of pop.
As the warehouses are well-filled at the present, and there will be greater need in the autumn, headquarters have issued instructions to ease off on all work, except box-linings and knitting. The rooms will be open for wool on Tuesdays from 2 to 5:30 p.m.
The surgical dressing committee will not meet until August 6, and the sewing committee will cease activities until Aug. 7.

Hillmen Run Up Early Lead To Romp Home 18-7

WEAK FIELDING RESULTS IN BASKETBALL SCORE FOR HILL

By RALPH M. ADAMS

Jumping on Lefty Glover in the first canto, the Hillers pounded out seven hits and eight runs to start a ball game that ended with a basketball score on Tuesday in their home park.
Glover's support was not of the best as the red fielders heaved the old apple around like a bunch of kids in the third grade. On paper it looks bad for the southpaw's hurling record but he certainly was not to blame for the debacle. The boys not only threw the ball to all corners of the lot in the first inning but kept up the habit for most of the game.
Niles, who came into the fray in the fourth, held the Hillers in check for the rest of the game, letting them down with two hits. However, the damage had been done and altho the redmen fought back in the seventh, the best they could do was six runs and so fell far short of the mark.
How the Score Went
Should I attempt to tell the scoring as it went, play by play, the whole page would do nicely. However, as I mentioned before, the Hillers tallied eight runs in the first, added three in the second, three more in the third and finished with four in the fourth to complete their total of 18.
The redmen were on the zero side of the ledger till the fifth, when they managed to sneak one run in. Coupled with their rally in the seventh that netted them six markers, their complete score at the end of the fracas read seven. Thus the affair that started out to be a ball game ended more or less in basketball fashion. But the return game in the local park is liable to tell another story that may send the Hillers home to weep to themselves.

PICTURE OF A POLITICIAN AT WORK

Prime Minister Mackenzie King presents the picture of a man at work, engaged in an activity where he has repeatedly shown himself a master — a politician even now busy winning the next election. And, mark you, he will win it too.

Isn't it strange that the one man in recent times who has come to the leadership of one of the traditional political parties with an academic and student background should be the chief partisan of them all? Faced a few years ago with the greatest economic crisis in Canadian history, unemployment which was threatening Canadian homes with hunger and misery, he wouldn't give "a five-cent piece" to a provincial government which differed in political stripe from his own. Today Hitler knocks at the door and Mr. King demands personal loyalty to himself as an essential qualification for membership in the cabinet.

There is politics in almost every move the government makes. The party holds tight to every cabinet post and so controls the patronage. The government is even now looking at the next election. We do not know who is getting the $900,000,000 that Canadians are spending for war this year, but we do know who is handing it out. There was brave talk last fall about Canadians paying for this war as they went along, in order to avoid economic disaster after the war is over. There was talk of a terrific burden of taxation. But what happened? A few weeks ago Finance Minister Ralston (whom we excuse from any charge of playing politics, for we believe he went into the government solely for the war emergency and will probably leave it when the war is over) budgeted for a deficit of "$550 million to $600 million." Mr. Ralston said: "This will be a staggering deficit, larger indeed than our total governmental expenditures during the depression years."

With war expenditures of $850,000,000 to $900,000,000 forecast for the present fiscal year, the government proposed new taxes which will bring $110,500,000 this year, and only $280,100,000 in a full fiscal year. Why? There again may be discerned the restraining hand of Mr. King, who does not wish to make his administration unpopular, in view of the fact that there will be another election one of these years.

The budget fixed the excess profits tax at 75 per cent when public opinion was calling for a 100 per cent tax. The income tax, with the new increases, is not yet as heavy as Britain's. Quote Mr. Ralston: "Take a married man with no dependents living in Ontario. If he receives an income of $1,000 he will pay no tax in Canada.....while his British cousin in like circumstances would pay $14.31." According to Mr. Ralston the married person with no dependents earning $1,500 pays 21 per cent of what his old country cousin would pay. This percentage increases with the larger incomes, but even the man with $50,000 income pays only 33 per cent of what his British cousin would pay.

The government proposes to make up the deficit by borrowing about $900,000,000 this year. "These are impressive sums but I know that they are not beyond the capacity of our markets to absorb under the conditions of expanding business and rising national income," says Mr. Ralston. At another point Mr. Ralston said: "I think the house will agree that a very serious effort is being made to carry the pay-as-you-go policy as far as is practicable." We agree that Mr. Ralston probably went as far as Mr. King, with an eye on the next election, would let him.

If Canadians cannot pay more than one-third of the cost of the war at a time when the government is putting in circulation an extra $900,000,000, and the British government is said to be spending a million dollars a day in Canada, when can they ever hope to pay for the war? What pinch will there be if the people are to pay back in taxes only $1 for every $4 which the British and Canadian governments are spending in Canada for war purposes? There will be a pinch on some people, of course, because others are going to get a lion's share of the government's largesse.

Here are some of the people who will feel the pinch. Quote Mr. Ralston: "A farmer offers me the total proceeds of his 400-acre wheat crop, and the increases of his livestock for Canada's war chest. The wife of a small wage-earner begs me to place a heavy income tax on her own small income. A small industrial firm agrees to give all its profits for the duration of the war. A veteran of 1914, with a disability pension of $47 a month as the sole income of a family of five, sends me all he has to give, a collection of old coins, and the caretaker of one of our militia armories sends me $20 each month."

And while these people are making their sacrifices, and other small wage-earners are squeezing the family budget to lend the government money with war stamp purchases, Mr. King plans to spend $10,000,000 on an unneeded C.N.R. station in Montreal.

LOYALTY STILL A FACTOR

One's faith in human nature is restored by the statement of President Hambro of Norway, now a refugee in New York, that Germans, not Norwegians, betrayed Norway, in a dispatch to the Toronto Globe and Mail. "The occupation was in no sense an inside job," he said. "It was not made easy by Norwegian connivance." He blamed the Nazis for spreading stories of treachery in each country they have invaded.

"Hitler works the fifth-column idea for all it's worth. He wants to create the impression that there are thousands, even millions of Nazi sympathizers everywhere." In other words, Hitler's propaganda arm is busy destroying the world's faith in human nature. He tries to break Allied morale by making the Allies distrust their own citizens.

That explains a lot. As we looked ahead to this war a year ago we thought that Germany would be a seething mass of rebellion. Instead, we found that the Germans were solidly Nazi and that seemingly the traitors and rebels were all on the Allied side—that is the way Nazi propaganda has made it appear. President Hambro's words should be encouraging.

President Hambro tells another story which restores one's faith in German character. Among the advance troops invading Norway were Germans in Norwegian uniforms who spoke Norwegian well. These boys had been guests of Norwegian families during two winters of starvation in Germany, and believed that they were in Norway to help their Norwegian friends to repel an Allied invasion. According to President Hambro, there were several suicides among these boys when they discovered the truth that they themselves were the invaders. Germans aren't all Hitlers and Norwegians aren't all Quislings.

There weren't enough Quislings in Norway for Quisling to form a government with, President Hambro said. No one would join his Nazi government. The Germans invaded Norway under the British, French and American flags, and Germans within Norway betrayed Norway to the enemy.

We still think that most people prefer to be honest and loyal to their own country, their kinsmen and their friends. While remembering that there is a higher loyalty (for instance, the loyalty to the democratic ideal of the German who refuses to fight for Hitler and even fights against his own country or the loyalty to Christian pacifism of the British conscientious objector who refuses to fight at all), it is reassuring to know that loyalty to one's fellows is still strong in the world and that the talk today about traitors is overdone — even Nazi-inspired.

A HARSH JUDGMENT

In our spy-seeking zeal there is a danger that we may forget what our country is fighting for. We are fighting so that men will still have the right to speak and write their thoughts, meet together and criticize the government, worship God according to their own consciences or not at all if they please, live their own lives, and when they make a mistake receive a fair trial in an open court.

In Newmarket police court this week an Austrian was charged with illegal possession of firearms. He was unannounced. A constable visited his home and asked if he had any firearms. He said that he had not. He had had a shotgun but he had sold it. Where? he was asked. To a second-hand dealer on Queen St., Toronto. The constable went away, but the alien's conscience began to bother him. He had not sold his gun but had turned it over to a friend in Toronto, who was to sell it in satisfaction of money owing to him. The second party had not been able to sell it. The accused man went to the city, obtained the gun from the friend, telling him he had to turn it over to the police. This he did, and the police laid a charge of unlawful possession of a firearm.

Magistrate McIlveen used bad judgment in imposing a $10 fine, in addition to confiscation of the firearm. The offence, if any, was technical, as the crown attorney stated. The man had told a lie as to how he had disposed of his shotgun, but to tell a lie is not yet a crime in Ontario. The accused man probably could not have been fined even if the police had found the gun in the possession of a friend. The Austrian would have been able to say that it was no longer his gun. It was only because the Austrian was such a decent fellow and went a little farther than the average Canadian would have gone to co-operate with the police that the court was able to register a conviction.

Confiscation of the firearm would have been sufficient punishment, if any punishment was necessary. Addition of a $10 fine amounts to persecution, the sort of treatment one would expect in a Nazi court. More than that, the magistrate's decision will not encourage other aliens to co-operate with the police but rather will have the opposite effect.

Toronto Globe and Mail says: "Tenderfoot members from the west complain of drafts in the house of commons, while bald heads representing the 'offic east' say they can take it. Thus is shattered another tradition." There is another draft coming which won't affect many members of the house, whether bald of head or tender of foot.

THE CARDINAL OVERCOMES HER SHYNESS

"It's nice here at the edge of the lake," said Young Chips, the Black-capped Chickadee, to Merry. "But it seems to me that there's nobody else here but those noisy Kingfishers. Imagine fishing for a living!"

"Nonsense," replied Merry, his mate, as her bright eye wandered out over the water. "I see several other birds right from here. There's a graceful Black Tern flying over the water. I can tell by his dark plumage and smallness that he is not a Common Tern. Then there's a Great Blue Heron flapping over there on the water's edge, and I see a little Spotted Sandpiper bobbing along down on the beach."

"Yes, but they're not our crowd," objected Young Chips. "Merry me, sometimes you amaze me with your clannishness!" said Merry. "What would you expect up here at the lake? After all, we're not water or shore birds, are we? If you don't like it here, let's go back to that pasture we noticed, just behind this woods. It will be nice and sunny there. Come on children. Chips exclaimed as they reached the edge of the woods and arrived in the sunny pasture. "There's a Goldfinch over there." "Is that a Robin I hear singing over to the right?" asked Tim Chickadee.

"No, I don't think so," replied Merry. "It doesn't sound just like one, but I can't quite place that song. Is it a Rose-breasted Grosbeak, Young Chips?"

A cheerful carolling sound, not quite as loud as the Robin's, and with a slightly different arrangement of notes, was coming from the direction of the trees at the edge of the woods.

"No, its neither a Robin nor a Grosbeak," said Young Chips, after listening for a moment. "It's our friend, the Scarlet Tanager."

"Oh my," chirped one of the young Chickadees excitedly. "Where is he, quick—quick? I've never seen one."

"I don't see him anywhere," Merry told her, "but he must be there. Why don't you go over and hunt for him?" Three of the youngsters took her advice and hustled over to the edge of the woods again, and began peering about among the thick green branches. After some time they came back, feeling rather discouraged.

"We just couldn't find him anywhere," said one. "Once we got over near him he stopped singing, and we hunted all over and he didn't seem to be anywhere."

"I'm not surprised," laughed Young Chips. "The Tanagers are quite shy in the summertime. They like to hide in the green foliage. Too bad you didn't get a look at him though. He's worth seeing."

"That reminds me," mused Merry. "I heard the queerest thing about a shy bird yesterday. I could hardly believe it, but I know it's true, because Hattie Nuthatch told me and Mrs. Cardinal told her."

"What was it?" asked Young Chips.

"Well, you know that feeding station that is always kept filled with sunflower seeds for the Cardinals?" said Merry. "This day, it was just a few days ago, it had a few seeds in it, and the Cardinals came and very quickly ate them all up. It was in the morning and the man who had the feeding station for them thought there were plenty of seeds there. But Mrs. Cardinal was quite upset and wanted some more food very badly."

"So, finally she screwed up her courage and went over to the spot where the man was working in the garden. It was away around on the other side of the house from the feeding station and she alighted on a small tree near the spot where he was working and called and called to him, she said. For a while he just kept calling back, as he often does, and not paying any special attention. But then, after she persisted for so long, he finally went around to take a look at the feeding station, and of course, found it perfectly empty."

"I hope he filled it up right away," said Young Chips.

"He did," said Merry. "But I do think that was a rather remarkable thing for Mrs. Cardinal to do. She and her husband are so dreadfully shy and timid. I was quite flabbergasted when Hattie told me."

The Common Round

WHAT WE THINK

By Isabel Inglis Colville

I have read, in books and articles, and these by authors who differed widely on many other things, that if we can concentrate our wills with sufficient singleness of purpose on any one objective, that objective can be attained—and that—no matter how impossible it may appear of attainment.

I suppose that never before has the whole British Empire set itself with such grim determination to reach one objective—the destruction of the forces of evil and the reinstatement of justice, liberty and peace in lands where such ideals have been burned at the stake.

In times of peace, from the motherland, to the farthest corner over which the Union Jack waves, we have taken advantage of our liberty of speech and action, to talk of, vote for and work for, objects as widely different, as there were minds to conceive them. Each little group, working for something, and thinking only in terms of small things—something like numberless wheels in a great clock, all set at different tempos, and so, not allowing the clock to function with any efficiency. Now, we think in terms of Empire—what happens in the British Isles, in Australia, New Zealand, South Africa or any other part of us, is as vital and real to us, as if it happened in Canada—we are being fused in the fire of suffering, anxiety, work, prayer and hope, unto such an Empire as the world has never seen. In peace time, in spite of a growing toleration for each other's religious proclivities, and spasmodic efforts after church union, we kept pretty much to our own private formulas. Since the war, we have come to the belief that "more things are wrought by prayer, than this world dreams of," and "if two or three are gathered together in My name, I will grant their requests."

We are forced by the very imminence of the peril which confronts us, to seek help from something higher than earthly power, no matter how great that power may be. On the day of national prayer, I do not think many people thought of themselves as Protestant or Roman Catholic or Jew. We prayed for sorely needed help and we prayed as people beg for something they feel they cannot live without.

Such prayers—such urgent, pitiful appeals to a loving Father, we felt MUST be answered, for at that time of testing, we felt that the Rock of Ages was the only sure foundation in which to build a little hope.

And when the news of the evacuation of Dunkirk began, and, with the aid of the blessed, shielding fog, was carried out so marvellously, I think there were few who did not think it was an answer to the great united petition that went up from a sorely stricken but believing Empire.

There is a gathering together of all the wills of that Empire, to Victory. One feels the living do not march alone—that the men who laid down their lives in the last war for an ideal which we somehow lost in the booming, carefree years which followed, are marching again—a silent army, whose wills are strong to help mould the future destiny of the world. I read once that if you took as much time and care to exercise your will each day as you did to exercise your body, you could cultivate an instrument, powerful beyond our present comprehension, to do your bidding.

We know that even without conscious cultivation, a strong will can accomplish much. So if all the wills of all the people in our far-flung Empire are welded into one in their determination to establish freedom where slavery now is, then neither Nazism, Fascism nor Communism can stand against it.

We all have wills, we can sharpen them by faith, by charity, by courage, prayer, determination and love, and a nation activated, sustained and forged together by such will CANNOT fail!

The minister arose to address his congregation. "There is a certain man among us today who is flirting with another man's wife," he declared. "Unless he puts five dollars in the collection, his name will be read from the pulpit."

When the collection plate came in, there were fifteen five-dollar bills, and a two-dollar one with this note attached: "Other three pay day."

POLICE COURT ALIEN SURRENDERS GUN, STILL FINED $10

Daniel Watson, an 18-year-old youth, was sentenced to three months in the Ontario Reformatory in Newmarket police court Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of theft. Constable Morton, of the Township of North Gwillimbury, testified that the accused had stolen a wind-breaker from D. Crocker and a pair of shoes from Murray Love, when these two Keswick boys were swimming in Lake Simcoe. "Crocker and Love were swimming and had left their clothes on the Keswick beach," the officer said. "These articles were stolen. They were later recovered at the home of Henry Evans and only $1 was missing."

Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K. C., stated that the accused had a lengthy record and read a list of previous convictions that included theft, shopbreaking, and malicious damage.

"Have you any people here?" asked Magistrate W. McIlveen. "No," replied the accused. "I was going to join the army. I didn't think at the time of what I was doing."

"You will have to make up your mind whether you are going to follow a life of crime or whether you are going to be have yourself," his worship said. "You must decide whether you are to spend most of your life down in Kingston or whether you will behave."

John Phillip, of King township, was fined $10 and costs after being convicted of unlawful possession of a shotgun. He is an alien Austrian. County Constable Ronald Watt testified. "On June 28, in the afternoon, I went to the home of Phillip in the Holland Marsh for the purpose of searching for firearms," stated the constable. "The accused is an Austrian and is not naturalized. He stated that he had a gun, but that he had sold it. I questioned him as to where he had sold it. He said that he had sold it in a second-hand store on Queen St., Toronto. He was unable to remember what store. He advised me to search the house, saying that he had no gun."

"The next day, June 29, he appeared at the police station with this shotgun," continued Constable Watt. "He stated then that he had gone to Toronto for the gun, stating that he had left it at the home of a friend to be sold. I later found bullets at his home in the Holland Marsh."

Charles Evans, of Bradford, counsel for the accused, stated that the former reeve of King, Norman McMurchy, had "given the man a good recommendation."

Phillip testified that he had come to Canada in 1935. "I was intending to become naturalized," he said. He added that he had approached Mr. Evans previously to inquire how he should go about getting his papers and Mr. Evans had told him that he had not been in the country long enough to do that.

"Why did you tell a lie to the officer when he first came?" asked Mr. Mathews.

"I was nervous and I made a mistake," replied the accused. Andrew Virag, of Toronto, testified that Phillip had given the gun to him to sell in payment of $10 which he had loaned the accused. "But I couldn't sell it," said Virag. "Then Phillip came to me about three weeks ago and said that he had to take the gun to the police station."

Mr. Evans said that he was convinced that his client was telling the truth and that he would not have taken the case had he thought otherwise.

"I don't like the fact that he lied about it," said Crown Attorney Mathews. "However, there seems to be no ulterior motive, and I think that it was purely a technical breach of the law."

The magistrate ordered that the gun and ammunition be confiscated. A fine of $5 was levied against William J. Pickering, of Toronto, for failure to turn out from an oncoming car driven by Alfred Reardon, of Camp Borden, and thus causing an accident. Ferguson testified that Pickering had been driving over the centre of the road south of Bradford where the accident occurred. "He complained of the lights," said the officer.

"You had better be careful in the future," declared his worship.

F. N. Smythe, Toronto, was remanded for sentence on payment of costs on a charge of false pretences with intent to defraud. Fred S. King, owner of the Poplar Bank service station, Yonge St., stated that Smythe had tendered him a worthless cheque in payment for work done on Smythe's car.

Smythe contended that he meant to make good his cheque, but, having been delayed in Ottawa while attempting to secure a position with the air force, he was unable to do so before King had taken action.

Charged with speeding, Constable Fisher Dunham, Aurora; William J. Sietz, Toronto, was fined $6.50; Thomas Lully, Midland, $9.50; Robert Fallow, Toronto, $7.50; Cecil J. Weller, Toronto, $7.50; George W. Kitchen, Toronto, $7.50; William Reedy, Port McNicoll, $7.50; H. J. Durfy, Hamilton, $7.50; George M. Leetzel, St. Thomas, $7.50.

Charged with speeding, Constable Kenneth Mount, Newmarket; Isaac Caplin, Toronto, was fined $6.50. Caplin admitted that he had exceeded the speed limit on Eagle St., but protested that it was the first time he had done so since he has been spending his summers at Lake Simcoe.

Other charges of speeding brought by Constable Mount resulted in fines for: Finley Munro, Toronto, $9.50; Frank Miller, Toronto, $9.50; Clifford Cleave, Bloomfield, $6.50; Thomas Cass, Toronto, $9.50; C. F. Reardon, Toronto, $9.50.

Charged with having bad brakes, William F. Edgar, Newmarket, was fined $11.50. Constable Joseph Jardine, East Gwillimbury, testified.

Gertrude Ireland, Toronto, was fined $20 and costs for speeding, Constable Ferguson. The officer testified that the accused had driven at a speed of 75 m.p.h. on Yonge St. Edward Buckman, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs for speeding at a rate of 65 m.p.h. near Bond Lake. Stanley Watson, Toronto, was fined $15 and costs on a similar charge, Constable Ferguson.

Charged with "attempt to pass," Ruth Sharpe, Hamilton, was fined $5 and costs, as was Michael Taylor, King. Constable Ferguson brought both charges.

WHITCHURCH TOWNSHIP FARMER COMPENSATED FOR EXPECTANT COW

Isaac Pike, veteran farmer at Bethesda, received compensation to the extent of $75 for loss of a cow which died as a result of being chased by a dog that was later identified and shot by the township constable. Restitution was voted Mr. Pike on Saturday at the regular meeting of Whitechurch township council.

The Sheep and Dog Act provides that cattle killed or injured by dogs entitles the owner to compensation similar to the case of sheep. In this particular case, a neighbor's dog chased a cow due to calve in a few days, with the result that she dropped her calf and died.

Sheep in the township have tempted the appetites of dogs too, and as a result Clare Botender was paid $10 for one sheep killed and one injured, and Dr. Devins of Aurora received $8 for loss of one animal.

Road expenditures came in for serious consideration. Supt. Henry Widdfield notified council that not more than $3,000 of the appropriation for roads remained unspent. If the appropriation is overspent then the council loses the 50 per cent rebate from the department of highways.

Forging ahead with the 4th concession this year compelled council to purchase certain lands to meet the requirements of the county and government in this matter, as these bodies are anxious to complete the 4th in order to relieve traffic on Yonge St.

"We must hold down this expenditure," warned Reeve Toole, who with other members expressed it as unfair that the township roads should be torn to pieces by big gravel trucks working on the 4th, while the township had to bear the expense.

The reeve promised that the county would hear about it and, if possible, compensation would be obtained.

Councillor Kidd reiterated his stand that he was opposed to the county measure which compels the township to buy land for new corners that are designed solely for speed.

The county tax bill totalling $20,171.49 was received, and showed that Whitechurch is called on to contribute $11,123.32 for general county purposes, including county road expenses, while secondary schools cost the municipality $8,620.65. There is a new levy of $427.52, the township's share of $27,000 voted by the county for patriotic work.

The clerk announced that their share of fines imposed in Newmarket court for the month of May. Total fines belonging to the township were $15.

The auditor reported that he had examined the books of the tax collector, which were found to be in order. Mr. Andrews' report was accepted by council on resolution of Councillors Leary and Wells.

Councillor Wells was critical of the kind of road-building going on along the 2nd and 3rd concessions. The crown of the road is cut away and there is dirt there to drive in. All the gravel is on the sides, declared Mr. Wells.

Further, he wanted to tell the council that a lot of money could be saved if farmers would put in a little time around their gate entrances from the roads, which would save numerous washouts that are expensive to repair.

formed during their long period of Christian service.

While the community can ill afford to lose a family possessed with such pure Christian ideals, there is some consolation in knowing that some other field of labor will be made richer and more productive.

The opportunity was also taken to extend a hearty welcome to the new minister and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Lapp of Toronto.

Rev. Mr. Bowes officiated. The bride was gownned in royal blue sheer, with white embroidered collar and cuffs. She wore a blue hat with white streamers and carried roses tied with gold ribbon.

Miss Betty O'Dell was her sister's attendant and wore dusky rose sheer and carried pink and white roses. Roland Sage was best man.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for a wedding trip to Ottawa. For travelling the bride chose a blue crepe dress with white accessories. On their return they will live in Willowdale.

NEWMARKET SOLDIERS

RECEIVE BOXES

Another box from the Soldiers' Comfort Fund was sent to Newmarket boys overseas last week, according to Alfred Smith, president of the Newmarket Veterans' Association.

"The organization is indeed thankful for the kindly assistance of the ladies of the Newmarket Women's Institute, who purchased the goods, assisted in the packing and sewed the parcels up," said Mr. Smith.

Each soldier received two pairs of socks, 17 pairs of which were received from the Red Cross Society and 17 pairs from the Women's Institute. The boxes this time contained one pound of butter (in special carton), pears, peaches, sandwich paste, tomato juice, biscuits, dates, gum, salted biscuits, chocolate bars, soap, a pipe and lighters (contributed by Bill White).

The present balance in the bank is $233.49. Donations have been received recently from N. A. Corneil, former principal of the Newmarket public schools, who taught many of these boys, Sid. Marwood, and from the members who are contributing monthly amounts.

Close to fifty dollars was realized from the sale of the quilt by the bridge club of eight local ladies. The quilt was won by Harry Glenn, of Charles St.

SONS TAN LEATHER

MEN IN 10-6 SCORE

By JACK PEPIATT
A third-inning spurge that netted eight runs spelled victory for the Sons of England and disaster for Davis Leather when these two hardball squads lined up Tuesday night. This was a battle between the giants, the leading teams in the circuit, and the Englanders gave Stan Evans the right kind of support to emerge definite victors, with a 10-6 score.

When George Haskett defied the laws of baseball in the third and overthrew along the second-base line, he started a train of runs that was hard to stop.

Mickey Smith put the tannery into an early lead by scoring from a three-bagger in the first. In the first half of the third, the Davismen scored twice. Bill Haskett and Ned Tansley touched four bases.

Albert Evans cracked out a single to start the eight-run festivity. Delbert Gibney singled and Barker was hit and went to first, Evans came in when Drury muffed the ball and Haskett, on first base, threw to second in an effort to tag Barker. The throw was wide of the mark and Gibney and Barker came home. Stan Evans, Red Langton, Scotty Mair, Germain and Albert Evans completed the scoring in this inning.

Barker and Charlie Evans scored in the fourth. Smith was yanked from the box after his last display and Lefty Groves came in for his first assignment of the season.

A small rally was started in the fifth inning by the Davismen. George Haskett, Groves and Turan managed to find the fourth sack. In this inning, Drury redeemed his earlier slip-up by cracking a run-producing single.

Stan Evans was the star on the winning team, but Red Langton followed him closely in this respect. Red is a sure bet to get a hit almost every time up. The whole Sons of England team played winning ball. Groves allowed no runs and few hits during his tenure on the mound and shared the spotlight with Tansley and Turan.

Davis Leather: Smith, Wm. Haskett, G. Haskett, Tansley, Hamilton, Turan, W. Townsley, Drury, H. Peppiatt, Harden, Groves.

Sons of England: A. Evans, Gibney, Barker, C. Evans, S. Evans, Langton, Mair, A. Watts, VanZant, Germain.

There are some things we may learn even from our enemy. The Marquis of Lothian, the British ambassador to the U.S.A., who had been a teetotaler for 25 years, said, "It would be a good thing if our naval, military and air force authorities took as vigorous and stern a line as Field Marshal Goering and Admiral Raeder, German naval chief, in their limitations of the consumption of alcohol in the German air force and navy."

"Goering has decreed that bars may not be placed in officers' and sergeants' messes, in corporals' rooms or in canteens. Members of the air force are forbidden to drink at bars in public places, and forbidden to drink at all immediately before going on duty. Lloyd George said during the last war, 'We are fighting three enemies, Germany, Austria and drink, and the greatest menace is drink.'"

RED CROSS FESTIVAL

IS HUGE SUCCESS

Nearly a thousand friends of the Red Cross attended the garden party held in Pioneer's Park, Sharon, on July 10, and all went home more than satisfied with the evening's entertainment.

The Toronto Maple Leafs and the Newmarket Redmen gave a splendid exhibition of real baseball to the immense enjoyment of the crowd. The score of 7-6, in favor of the Redmen, indicates how closely contested the game really was.

Happy Day had 13 players, and the lucky fans were glad to see their favorites at close range.

Too much cannot be said of the excellent concert provided by the Newmarket gold medal band. This in itself was worth the entire price of admission. The band was most generous in giving their services to assist the Red Cross.

The concert given in the evening, under the direction of Norman McLeod and Roy Stewart, was one of the best ever presented in Sharon. Every number was well received and the attention given by the large audience attested their pleasure. Norman McLeod, as master of ceremonies, left nothing to be desired. The sound system, installed through the kindness of Stewart & Beare, Newmarket, added greatly to the success of the event.

During the evening, tickets were sold on a quilt, donated by Mrs. Geo. Tate, Holland Landing, and, at the close of the evening, Miss Gurner, who, with her sister, had delighted the audience by her dancing, drew the lucky ticket, which was held by Mr. Geo. Hill, by Sutton.

During the evening, friends were seen from Toronto, Aurora, Newmarket, Orlia, Penetang, Sutton and other points in York County.

The management committee wishes to thank all those who contributed in any way to the success of the event and also to report that the net proceeds of the evening were $24.16.

PEPPER AND SALT

By "PEP"

When the Maple Leaf hockey stars played the Redmen at Sharon last Wednesday, everyone thought it a very good game, but one spectator got the biggest kick of anyone. Margaret Coyle, who hitherto had seen her hockey idols in ones and twos
when they paid her a visit, got the biggest dish ever and all in one night. And I would like to bet that the Mapleos felt the same way about Marg.

Margaret has almost every attribute that a hockey star requires—courage, grit, determination, amiability and the will to win. A large amount of these and a player is a star; a small amount and he is usually just a run-of-the-mine player. The place that Margaret has won in the hearts of a great many people, both in Newmarket and in far-flung places, is one that even a hockey star can never hope to attain.

At present, the Sons of England are king-pins of the local citrus league and they owe their lofty position to the skill of Stan Evans more than anyone else. Take Stan off the mound and the four teams would be fairly even in playing ability; put him on and there is difference
enough to warrant placing odds
on the England team.

Stan must get his speed and power from a combination of powerful shoulder and arm muscles. As the season advances he shows better control and wiser judgment in choosing his spots and in pacing his game.
Probably owes much of this to some wise coaching by brother Charlie, who has had much experience in the game. Stan can go far in Ontario hardball if he improves as he has been doing.

The crowds attending the fastball contests are increasing steadily in numbers and interest.
Many people in Newmarket think that hardball is a dull game to watch, but they would be agreeably surprised with the brand of ball played in this league. The players are expert enough to make it interesting and inexpert enough to give one chills and a good chance to use one's vocabulary, limited or unlimited as it may be.

Tom Burke, who recently joined the army via the Irish Regiment, which is rapidly becoming best known as the "Newmarket Regiment," is making good use of his physical abilities both in soldiering and extra-curricular activities.

He is a drummer in the regimental band, where he finds his bugle and training useful.
Kipling will tell you how necessary a part the regimental band plays in military life.

Tommy has cleaned up on all the "Irish" of his size who were willing to trade punches with him. Since he has exhausted the possibilities in his regiment he is now taking on the air force.
Two bouts with air force men are now in the offing. Tom wants to watch that he doesn't do too good a job or his opponents may have to return to civilian life because of injuries sustained.

This is the time of year that many of the local brumms
mildly paint the resorts, Lake
Simcoe, Musselman's, etc., red.
Just as a sailor has a girl in every port so have they a girl in every resort. With each new year acquaintances are renewed or, as in most cases, are newly made.
No, this is not the lead-up for the "moral of the story," but is just a news item long ignored.

Mount Pleasant

The weather is fine again after the big rain on Monday, which has delayed the haying, but gave the farmers a chance to work
among the root crop.

New peas and new potatoes are on the menu with some of the farmers.

Some of the people from here attended the Free Methodist camp meeting at Holland Landing
last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Graham and family of Newmarket visited at Mr. Wm. Moulds on Sunday.

Rev. Dr. Mark of Toronto, who has been at Mount Pleasant the last two Sundays and is expected
this Sunday, has been given a call by the Sutton congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Davidson and George, Mrs. Everett York and Claude and Mr. Geo. Stiles visited at the home of Mrs. Robt.
Morrison at Islington on Sunday.

The Ladies' Aid will be held at the home of Mr. Geo. Stiles on Friday of next week, July 26.
Supper will be served from 6 to 8 p.m. on the lawn, weather permitting. All are welcome.

Services at Mount Albert on Sunday afternoon.

Several attended the Orange walk at Bradford, July 12, and some went to Long Branch on July 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Robins of Toronto
were visitors at the home of Mr.
and Mrs. Frank Watts on Sunday.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cookson on the birth of a son.

A number attended camp
meeting at Holland Landing Park
on Sunday.

Messrs. Murray Rutledge, Irvin
Marles, Howard and Harold Cunningham spent the weekend
camping at Midland.

GREEN ONIONS

By GOLDEN GLOW

To anyone who is fond of green onions, the very name suggests spring and early summer. Of course, it isn't so "O-be-joyful" for anyone who does not care for them, if everyone else but them has indulged in what we usually call "a good feed of onions!"

When a whole family likes them, and all eat them at the same time, nobody complains,
and many a good midnight supper of cheese and crackers and green onions can be indulged in.
A late supper really seems the safest time to eat them, so as to be absolutely sure you won't make a nuisance of yourself!

A slight flavor of onions, to most of us adds zest to many a dish. Even the humble scalloped potato is improved by a "suspicion" of onion, and what man won't vote for "steak and onions" every chance he gets!

On a cold, stormy, winter
night, when visitors seem unlikely, is the time to have a pan-ful of either scalloped onions or a good serving of delicious fried onions of a lambent golden shade. And if one feels a cold coming on, what appeals more than a few rounds of Spanish onion, sprinkled liberally with salt, placed between slices of good bread and butter?

At a picnic how everybody
does enjoy a jar of pickled silver-skin onions! And in the winter how acceptable is a flaky baked potato, accompanied by a roasted onion, with plenty of butter on both.

(Maybe a "roasted onion" reminds some folk of Granny's old-time remedy for ear-ache. It may be old-fashioned but I believe it is effective.) I read in the paper one day lately that in Poland last February all that the people had to eat was potatoes and onions. The humble onion saved the situation! Can you imagine pickles without onions? You can even make a splendid pickle with rhubarb and chopped onions and spice, boiled down till thick.

Indeed, onions are invaluable, besides being so palatable. If you have a cold, with a cough,
why not try Granny's remedy for that. Slice a large onion and spread thickly with brown sugar—the onion juice will soon form a thick syrup, and that really is very good for a cough,
and children take it readily,
which is an advantage.

But it is of the green onions,
that we go out into our gardens
this time of the year and get a handful, and a handful of radishes (the pretty red and white French breakfast variety, or the tender white icicle kind)
and a handful of lettuce and curly cress, and with several slices of bread and butter and a cup of tea what more would one need, especially if you can eat it out-of-doors?

We do not often sing the praises of our kitchen gardens,
but they are as beautiful in their homely way as our flower-
borders, and much more useful,
we must admit. The vivid green of the lettuce, the darker green
and becalm leaves of the onion,
the dainty curly cress, the graceful carrot tops, the handsome beet tops and Swiss chard.

Then who has not admired the beautiful flower on the potatoes?
Later on, what about the tomato plants covered with pretty red globes? The "love apple" that our ancestors used to grow for

SLAPS 'N' SCRAPS

THERE
EVERY-WHEREBy RALPH M.
ADAMS

On the appearances to date our old rivals to the south are the team to beat for the silverware, as at present they are in the throes of a winning streak that has knocked off the Redmen and the collegians in order, the latter team
taking it on the chin twice.

Perhaps it is because the bench
is beginning to use the old noggin
instead of using nugget so much,
as most of the outfits in this loop
have his number.

Looking over the standing at present it really is a tight race in the group. Newmarket in last place is but one full game out of top position and have played one less game. Barrie and Richmond Hill are sharing second with the Aurorans in the top slot.

Right now anything can happen
in the league, with all the teams having real chances. The Reds can tie for first by taking the Aurora outfit tonite.

I want to thank the scribes who backed me up in my suggestion for an all-star team.

I talked to one of the writers
and received a letter from another,
and both were heartily in accord with yours truly, so let's have your selections, boys, in about two weeks' time.

My idea is to select players from all six teams that started the loop.

In your picking, boys, choose two catchers, three pitchers, five infielders and four outfielders, thus every position will have plenty of substitutes.

Perhaps some of you think I have too big a line-up, so don't keep your feeling on the matter,
just sound off in the next week's issue.

In the hardball league last Tuesday night the Sons of England took the tanners into camp by a score that left no doubt in any of ornamental plants! Corn with its tassels and the squash, cucumber and pumpkin vines, and the long shaped vegetable marrow. And the lowly cabbage is a beautiful sight in a garden, and a cauliflower is a bride's bouquet, like a nosegay with a circle of green leaves enclosing it.

And what about green and red peppers? They certainly look extra pretty growing in a garden.
Then think of broccoli and Brussels sprouts. Why truly a vegetable garden can be as splendid a sight as anything we could wish—and a well kept kitchen or market garden is no end of an asset to its owner, for we have all become vegetable conscious!
But the one vegetable that nobody would want to see omitted from a garden is the green onion.

the fans' minds as to who was the best team.

Mickey Smith, the burden bearer
for the leathemen all season, vanted the mound in the fifth for Lefty Groves, who stopped the rampaging Englishmen for a time with his slow hook.

Groves went in cold, so he didn't have much time to demonstrate whether he has much steam or not.
However, it amazes me why Manager Prest hasn't used him
before.

Stan Evans hurled his usually reliable game, with his mates backing him up well at the plate and in the field. They look like the best all round outfit in the group.

Along the grapevine . . . Hughie
Mair's pick-up of Drury's ground ball in the last inning of the Englishmen and Tanners struggle was a gem . . . Langton hammered out a nice double with the sacks full when the Sons staged their eight-run rally . . . The Redmen look as tho' they have fallen on evil times, but I'm wagering they will come back strong tonight . . .
Webster's Goldshirts are right in the hunt for the group title leading the pack, with Agincourt and Thornhill yelping at their heels . . .
So we type "30" for this week.

Thank You

"Conductor, help me off the train?"

"Sure."

"You see, I'm stout, and have to get off the train backward.

tion now."
